Wanna bet you can get trapped in a math game? Start with any number you like, you'll always wind up with the number 4.

THE SETUP
Don’t try this trick unless you can spell and count. Think of any number in the universe. Write it in numerals. Then write it in words and count the letters. Write this number in numerals. Then in words. Keep going until you are caught in the loop. No matter what number you started with, you will end up with four. Every time. Promise.

INSIDER INFORMATION
The word four is the only numeral in the English language with the same number of letters as its value. Count on it.
